

Autosport.com Talks to Taku

Contributed by Mark Talbot
Saturday, 12 July 2008
Last Updated Saturday, 16 August 2008

Whilst we waited for the karting to begin, Autosport.com was interviewing Taku. There are some very interesting nuggets ... not least this one:

"Q. There are some suggestions that Super Aguri could be resurrected in the future. Could you play a part in that?

TS: "Daniel (Audetto, former managing director) and I still talk about it. In fact, some of the management called us recently to keep us updated. It was a sad moment we had to go through, but Super Aguri's spirit has always been never to give up. So anything possible that means we can be back again we will look at. I am free at the moment, so if there is an opportunity I can help." (Autosport.com).

Taku's spirits are obviously still high, and his determination is as strong as ever.

Read more HERE